TL;DR — Where to start: The name (SAURAM), logo direction, and website already exist, so the real first step is:

1. Legally secure the name — trademark search + filing (time-sensitive: cheap now, expensive to fix later if someone else registers it first).
2. Write down the brand positioning — a ~2-page brand foundation document.

Everything else (packaging, marketing, social media) builds on those two things.

Step 1 — Protect the name (urgent, time-sensitive)

Trademark

- ☒ Done (13 Aug 2026) — public search on IP India TM Public Search confirmed "SAURAM" is available in the relevant classes:
Class 29 — ghee, edible oils, processed pulses · Class 30 — spices
- ☐ File the trademark application — the current top-priority action. Availability isn't protection; the name is only secured once an application is on file (first-to-file matters in India):
 - ☐ Government fee: ₹4,500 per class for individuals / small enterprises (with MSME/Udyam registration), ₹9,000 otherwise.
 - ☐ A local trademark agent in Rajkot typically charges ~₹1,500–3,000 on top, or self-file at ipindia.gov.in.
 - ☐ Use the [™] symbol immediately after filing; ® only after registration is granted.
- ☐ Get MSME/Udyam registration for MK Enterprise first if not done — it halves the TM government fee.

Note: FSSAI registration does not protect the brand name. Trademark and FSSAI are separate laws and can be pursued in parallel.

FSSAI license (for MK Enterprise as manufacturer)

- ☒ Done — MK Enterprise already holds an FSSAI license.

Remaining action: make sure the 14-digit FSSAI number is printed on every package along with the FSSAI logo (see Step 3).

If turnover crosses a tier boundary later, upgrade the license:

Tier	Annual turnover
Basic Registration	below ₹12 lakh
State License	₹12 lakh – ₹20 crore
Central License	above ₹20 crore

Other registrations

- ☒ GST registration — done, MK Enterprise already has a GST number.
- ☐ Health/Trade license from the local municipal body if applicable.

Step 2 — Brand foundation document (~2 pages)

The strategic core of the brand. Sits above DESIGN.md and should drive every future design and copy decision. Answer these on paper:

Target customer

"Everyone who eats food" is not an answer. Candidate segments:

- Urban Gujarati families who miss village-quality ghee.
- Health-conscious buyers who pay a premium for cold-pressed (not refined) oil.
- NRI / gifting market for traditional Gir cow ghee.

Pick 1–2 primary segments and describe them concretely (age, city, where they shop, what frustrates them about current options).

Positioning

Why SAURAM instead of Patanjali, Tata Sampann, or loose kirana stock? Real differentiators already in hand:

- Gir cow ghee (breed-specific, premium)
- Cold-pressed oil (process-specific, health angle)
- Direct from Bhayavadar/Rajkot — authentic farm origin + traditional process story that large competitors can't claim authentically.

Story, mission, values, voice

- Brand story — the founders, the farm, why SAURAM exists.
- Mission & values — 3–5 values, each one sentence.
- Tone of voice — e.g. warm, honest, rooted in Gujarat; not corporate.

Checklist framework — the 4 C's

C	Question
Clarity	Is it obvious what SAURAM stands for?
Consistency	Same visuals, messaging, tone on every platform?
Credibility	Are we delivering on every promise (purity, origin)?
Competitiveness	Is the positioning distinct in the market?

Step 3 — Packaging (where brand meets law)

For a food brand, packaging is the brand — it's what customers see on the shelf. In India, every label must satisfy two separate frameworks at once (passing one does not mean passing the other):

FSSAI Labelling & Display Regulations 2020

Every pre-packaged food label must carry (in English or Hindi):

- FSSAI logo + 14-digit license number
- Common/generic name of the food (not just the brand name)
- Full ingredients list
- Nutrition information panel
- Veg symbol (green dot)
- Batch/lot number (traceable to production records)
- Allergen declarations where applicable

Legal Metrology (Packaged Commodities) Rules 2011

- Net quantity in metric units — g/kg for solids, ml/l for liquids
- MRP (inclusive of all taxes)
- Manufacturer/packer name and full address
- Month and year of manufacture
- Consumer care contact details

Product-specific

- ☐ Ghee: look into AGMARK certification — a strong trust signal for ghee buyers in India.
- ☐ Extend DESIGN.md tokens (colors, typography) to packaging — don't design packaging as a separate identity.

Step 4 — Consistency & rollout

Once Steps 1–3 are done, apply the identity consistently everywhere:

- ☐ Packaging
- ☐ Website (already built)

- ☐ WhatsApp Business profile
- ☐ Google Business Profile (maps listing for MK Enterprise / SAURAM)
- ☐ Social media (same handle, same visuals, same voice)

Consistency is what makes a brand recognizable: same colors, same voice, same story on every touchpoint.

This week's action list

- ☒ Run IP India trademark search for "SAURAM" in Classes 29 and 30 — done 13 Aug 2026, name is available.
- ☐ File the TM application (agent or self-file) — do this before anything else; availability without filing is not protection.
- ☐ Get MSME/Udyam registration first if MK Enterprise doesn't have it (halves the government fee to ₹4,500/class).
- ☐ Draft the 2-page brand foundation document (Step 2).

Already in place: FSSAI license and GST number for MK Enterprise. Trademark search is done — filing is the only remaining legal step.
